An ingenious method has been adopted by number of coolies at Shaukiwan in order to capture Mr Holdsworth's chickens at the Mica Works. The operations have been in progress for some time with great success to the coolies, but yesterday aftermoon the Police secured four of the aggressors whilst they were watching their traps. The war de contratable so divine will The are known as partridge snares amongst the bushes in the poultry run. The snare is composed of two upright pieces of wood fixed in the ground, with a string stretched between, from which a number of running loops of gut are hung. A number of grasshoppers are also suspended from the string as buit, and the chicken in order to secure the tasty messi had to push its neck through the loop. When the innocent chick endeavoured to withdraw his neck the running loop tightened, and he was held a prisoner. The four coolies were charged at the Magistracy to-day with at tempted larceny, and were bound over to keep the peace for three weeks.

This afternoon the prizes gained in the regatta were presented in the Gymnasium of the Victoria Recreation Club to the successful competitors. There was a large attendance of members and also a good attendance of ladies. The prizes were presented by Mrs Hastings. Commander Hastings, in the course of a few remarks, said the regatta having been the fortieth held in connection with the Club, there was very little new or strange for him to speak upon. They had been blessed with glorious weather both days for rowing and sailing. and through the efforts of their indefatigable Secretary the regatts had been splendid success. Regattes were more or less alike, especially here in Hongkong. The oldest inhabitant could hardly be tell when there had been a regatta without the Lammerts, the Kews, the Stopanis, the Alves; they were continually coming up to the table to take the prizes. (Laughter and Applause). On this occasion Mr Fritz Lammort was in himself a procession. He was a many-sided man. On Thursday he rowed in the Rose, and he also carried the Civil Service Colours—the white foolshe pulled in the Leek, presumably a Welshman, under the German colours, and that well-fought battle was certainly won by the best crew. (Applause.). He had been informed that Mr Lammert had been training on haggis, and he would appear at the next Scotch Ball in the Lammert tartan. (Laughter.) He then called on Mrs Hastings to present the prizes After the prizes had been presented Mr Armstrong thanked Mrs 'Hastings' for kindly performing the ceremony, and presented her with a handsome bougget Three cheers and a 'tiger' were given for Mrs Hastings and the Chairman Commander Hastings in calling for three cheers for Mr Armstrong, said be regretted to may they were not be have him very 130 New Planes just arrived ; best makers much longer as their Samstary. #### THE REBELLION IN THE PHILIPPINES.

THE PRESENT SITUATION. THE REBEL STRENGTH.

With this issue we publish a sketch map showing the positions of the main body of the rebels near Cavita and of the Spanish forces in Cavite and Manila. The rebels are in possession of the whole of the Province of Cavite, excepting the city and arsenal of Cavite which are situated across the bay from Manile, mix miles distant by able did not exceed 1500, but they were steam-launch, and the isthmus connecting that city with the mainland. They are Governor-General Blanco informed the well fortified (since the end of August) at Imus and also at Novaleta, both in the Cavite Province. In front of Novaleta, To DAY Messrs Kuhn and Komor sold a they have a line of trenches, a mile and large bronze said to be the largest piece of a-half long, which were attacked by Spanish Japanese bronze work exhibited at the troops and loyal native auxiliaries on the Tokio Exhibition. The Spanish forces were Hongkong merchant, and we believe this then repulsed with the less of a third of fine piece of work is destined for Germany. the 73rd Native Regiment and about 80 The bronze was unpacked only two days Spanish cazadores, with 50 wounded of both corps. So far, the rebel trenches have have retired to a place called Dalahican, situated three-quarters of a mile from the for fed a camp there. In the camp they have four large cannon and two bronze mortars; in the trench adjoining the camp they have one cannon. A few days ago, there were 3500 Spanish troops in this camp under the command of General Rios. Up to the present no further attack has been made on the rebel trenches, although from the sea-side the rebel trenches of Novaleta. could easily be dominated by artillery. The rebel trenches here are splendidly constructed, and show that a skilful hand has gatto entirely, nearly all the spectators been at work in their design. As a matter of absolute-fact the rebol strength is not known, but it is estimated that there are at least 20,000 men behind these earthworks and at Novaleta.

At Imus, the estate-house of the friare, the rebels are still in undisturbed possession. The estate-house is practically a fortress surrounded by a very strong masonry wall. This must be regarded as the head-quarters of the rebels. Accounts has gained his laurels in the Western of their strength here vary, but may be safely set down as somewhere between 6,000 and 10,000. They hold, as we have said, almost the whole of the Province of Cavite, with an estimated total force (in that Province) of 35,000 men. Le Courrier de Saigon, which came to hand to-day, contains details of the fatal explosion on board the French mail steamer Saghalien. It would appear from our contemporary that there was considerable approhonsion entertained at Saigon in consequenco of the steamer being over-due from Singapore. Ultimately it transpired that a boiler had burst on board, killing instantaneously twelve Arab firemen and seriously injuring six others, including a French stoker named Dubois. All the injured men were horribly scalded, and Dubois and another Arabaubsequently succumbed. The accident occurred about six o'clock on the evening of November 30, when the vessel was 70 miles from Poulo Condore, and just when the watch was being changed. Fortunately the sea was smooth at the time. The noise from the escaping steam was most alarming, and as the electric light went out leaving the ship in darkness | not, a most dangerous disease. there was, naturally, much excitement amongst the passengers until the Commander was able to reassure them there was no immediate danger. > TRIAL TRIP OF THE HAILAN. This afternoon the trial trip of Messrs Marty's steamer Hailan took place. The Hailan was originally named the Activ, and she sailed under the Danish flag between Hongkong and Haiphong up till the early part of April, when she ran sehore in a fog on the island of Hainan, about twenty miles westward of Holhow. Mesers Marty were at that time agents for the steamer, and they received a letter on the 11th April that the vessel was likely to become a total wreck. The steamer was full of water, and otherwise very hadly damaged. The owners decided to sell the vessel, as she lay, by public auction, and Music. W. Robinson & Co. Mr A. R. Marty secured the vessel. Jack, the energetic engineer in the employ of Mesers Marty's firm, patched up the THE banquets held in Australia in connecvessel, and she was brought up to Hong- tion with the new Japanese Shipping Line kong for repairs. DEATH OF MES. SCOTT-SIDDONS. The death is announced of Mrs. Scott-The death is announced of Mrs. Scott-Siddons, the eminent actress, who visited Australia many years ago. The late Mrs. Scott-Siddons, who was a great-grand-daughter of the famous Mrs. Siddons, was born in 1844, and began her professional career in 1867 by giving Shakespearian readings at the Hanover-square Rooms, London. She made her debut on the metropolitan stage on 8th April, 1867, at the Haymarket Theatre.

Interview with President Kruger has been interviewed at Pretoria, the Transvall capital, with reference to the report that the Transvall Government claim £1,000,000 from the British South Africa Company as an indomnity for the Jameson raid. The President stated that the Republic claimed the indumnity, and that early in December a demand for an indomnity of a reasonable amount, would be presented to the British amount would be presented to the British Government and not to the British South

The National Zeitung says that Lord Lonsdale's statements mised painful doubts as to whether he was authorised to make such statements, as foreign rulers do not usually employ private British subjects to explain their policy.'

Nov. 16.—The Capetown correspondent of the Times says that the claim of the Transvaul Government is not likely to cause embarrassment in any quarter.

Dr W. J. Luyds, the Transvani Scoretary of State, declares that the Jameson raid cost the Transvani £168,000. It is stated that the indemnity for the raid to be claimed by the Transvaal from Great Britain will not exceed the amount mentioned by Dr Leyds. TREATMENT OF DISEASES BY ELECTRICITY.

Nov. 18. — A public exhibition was given in Edinburgh last night by Mr Molonoy, in regard to the treatment of diseases by means of electricity. A number of medical students who attended the lecture created some disturbance and protested against the lecture as a breach of etiquette. The police were summoned, and on the appearance of the officers the students left the building. They throw stones at Mr Moloney's house, THE SITUATION IN TURKEY.

Nov. 18.—The Armenian Bishop of Constantinople has been sentenced to death for complicity in the recent attack on the Imperial Ottoman Bank. The evidence against the bishop was only trifling. The Armenian Bishop of Bitlis, Armenia, has also been condemned to death on suspicion of being implicated in the rising.

M. Cambon, the French Ambassador in Constantinople, disputes the validity of the sentence of death passed upon the Armenian Bishop of Constantinople for complicity in the recent attack on the Imperial Ottoman Bank. Inquiries made by Sir Philip Currie, British Ambassador in Constantinople, go to prove that the reforms which the Porte undertook to carry out have not yet been touched.
